ANOTHER CLEW.

A Piece of a Slipper Found Under the Vat.

It Is Thought to Have Belonged to the Murdered Mrs. Luetgert.

The Alleged Wife-Murderer Will Take the Stand to Explain Its Presence in the Sewage Pipes on the Night of the Murder, May 1.

CHICAGO, May 25.—It is now generally understood that Adolph Luetgert, the alleged wife-murderer, will take the stand to explain its presence in the sewage pipes on the night of May 1, Wednesday, for the first time, his attorney has given out a statement of the defense he will make if it shall be necessary for him to testify.

Luetgert admits sending his wife, the night watchman, to the drug store for mineral water twice on the night his wife was last seen. The sausage maker admits turning on the steam that night, as he was conducting some experiments in the drying room in the basement.

Justice Kersten, State's Attorney Deen, Assistant State's Attorney McEwen, the police and Messrs. Vincent and Tripp, of the defense, besides others, visited the factory Wednesday.

While they were showing the justice the places referred to in the evidence a discovery was made of a piece of leather, evidently the heel of a felt slipper, which had been taken from under the middle vat. Mrs. Luetgert is known to have worn felt slippers when she was last seen.

The prosecution intends to find the woman seen at Kenosha, Wis., on May 3, four days after the supposed murder, and attempt to prove that the defense was working on a blind lead when it claimed that the woman was Mrs. Luetgert.
